1 General Information

Russian Federation First Mercantile Fund Limited (the "Fund"), formerly First Mercantile Emerging Russia Fund Limited, was incorporated in Guernsey, Channel Islands, on November 4, 1997 and re-domiciled in Bermuda on July 10, 2000. The Fund is an open-ended mutual fund company and can therefore issue, redeem and reissue its own shares at prices based on their net asset value.

On April 27, 2001, the shareholders of the Fund resolved to amalgamate with The Russian Federation Fund Limited ("RFF"). Pursuant to an amalgamation agreement dated April 30, 2001, the amalgamation became effective on May 1, 2001. The Fund was the surviving legal entity as a result of the amalgamation and thus assumed the assets and liabilities of RFF and its subsidiary, CER Investments Limited, in exchange for shares in the amalgamated entity on a one-for-one basis.

The principal investment objective of the Fund is to achieve long-term capital appreciation. By investing in securities and other instruments issued by companies or other entities established in, or which have their primary business in one or more countries or regions of the former Soviet Union (the "Russian Federation"). The Fund's portfolio consists of shares of major Russian companies which are traded regularly and less liquid or illiquid second and third-tier companies that AP Asset Management Limited ("the Advisor") believes are undervalued relative to other companies in the region. The Fund will, therefore invest in both quoted and unquoted equity and debt securities. Debt securities in which the Fund invests may not be rated.

These financial statements were prepared in accordance with and comply with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"). The functional currency of the Fund is US Dollars reflecting the fact that the Fund invests principally in US Dollars denominated assets, and all of the subscriptions and redemptions are in US Dollars. The presentation currency is US Dollars.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with IFRS requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires the Board of Directors to exercise its judgement in the process of applying the Fund's accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the financial statements are disclosed in Note 3.

(a) Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the results of the Fund and its wholly-owned subsidiary, CER Investments Limited. All intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation.

A portion of the securities owned by the Fund are traded on Russian exchanges. Reduced secondary market liquidity may mean that market quotations may only be available from a limited number of sources and may not represent firm bids for actual sales. This may affect the Fund's ability to obtain accurate market quotations for the purposes of valuing its portfolio and calculating its net asset value.

(iii) Measurement

Financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are initially recognised at fair value. Transaction costs are expensed in the statement of comprehensive income. Subsequent to initial recognition, all financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are measured at fair value. Gains and losses arising from changes in the fair value of the financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are included in the statement of comprehensive income in the period in which they arise. Interest income from financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is recognised in the statement of comprehensive income within interest income using the effective interest method. Dividend income from financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is recognised in the statement of comprehensive income within dividend income.

(iv) Forward currency contracts

The Fund purchases forward foreign exchange contracts in amounts approximating the net assets attributable to the Euro class of redeemable preference shares to manage its exposure against changes in the US Dollar/Euro exchange rate. Forward foreign exchange contracts are recorded at their fair value at the reporting date. The unrealised gain or loss on open forward foreign exchange contracts on each valuation date is the difference between the contract exchange rate and the forward exchange rate at the valuation date, as reported by published sources, applied to the face amount of the contract. The unrealised gain or loss at the reporting date is included in the consolidated statement of financial position. Realised and unrealised changes in the fair value of the contracts are included in the consolidated statement of comprehensive income in the period in which the change occurs and are attributed entirely to the Euro class of redeemable preference shares (Notes 2 and 13).

(c) Allocation of profits and losses

The profit or loss of the Fund for each week, before management and performance fees and excluding realised and unrealised gains and losses on forward foreign exchange contracts used for hedging (Note 15) is allocated at the end of each week to the US Dollar and Euro class of redeemable preference shares (Note 13). All of the realised and unrealised gains and losses on forward foreign exchange contracts are allocated to the Euro redeemable preference shares. Management and performance fees are calculated separately for each class of redeemable preference shares (Note 8).

(d) Investment and Interest income

Dividend income is recorded on an accruals basis and is disclosed gross of withholding taxes. Withholding taxes are disclosed as a separate line item in the statement of comprehensive income. Interest income is accounted for on the accruals basis of accounting. Interest income and expenses are recognised on a time proportionate basis using the effective interest method.

(e) Cash at bank and broker

Cash at bank and broker comprises cash balances held at banks and money lodged at the prime broker to support derivative trading and shorts.

(f) Taxation

Under current Bermuda laws, the Fund is not required to pay any taxes in Bermuda on either income or capital gains. The Fund has received an undertaking from the Minister of Finance in Bermuda exempting it from any such taxes at least until the year 2016.

It is management's belief that the Fund is not engaged in a United States trade or business and will not be subject to United States income or withholding taxes in respect of the profits and losses of the Fund other than the 30% withholding tax on US source dividends.

As a result management has made no provision for income taxes in these consolidated financial statements.

As at the date of approval of these consolidated financial statements, the potential tax liability (if any) pertaining to the year under review has not been quantified. Based on the circumstances of the Fund, management does not anticipate any significant tax impact on the Fund's consolidated financial statements for the reasons stated above.

(g) Accrued expenses

Accrued expenses are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently stated at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

(h) Translation of foreign currencies

The Fund has adopted the US Dollar as its functional currency as the majority of the Fund's investments are denominated in US Dollars. The Fund's presentation currency is US Dollars. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into US Dollars at exchange rates in effect at the date of the statement of financial position. Realised and unrealised gains and losses on foreign currency transactions are charged or credited to the statement of comprehensive income as foreign currency gains and losses except where they relate to investments where such amounts are included within net gain or loss on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. The cost of investments, and income and expenses are translated into US Dollars based on exchange rates on the date of the transaction.

(i) Adoption of new and revised IFRS's

In the current period, the Fund has adopted all the new and revised International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRSs") issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) that are relevant to its operations and effective for accounting periods beginning on or after April 1, 2013. The adoption of these new and revised IFRSs did not result in substantial changes to the Fund's accounting policies and amounts reported for the current period and prior years.

The Fund has not applied the new IFRSs that have been issued but are not yet effective. The impact of the application of the new standards and amendments has not yet been fully assessed by the fund.

3 Critical accounting estimates and judgements

Critical accounting estimates and assumptions

The directors make estimates and assumptions concerning future accounting periods. The resulting accounting estimates will, by definition, seldom equal the related actual results. The estimates and assumptions that have a significant risk of causing material adjustments to the carrying amount of assets and liabilities within the next financial year are outlined below.

Fair value of derivative financial instruments

The Fund may, from time to time, hold financial instruments that are not quoted in active markets, such as over the counter derivatives. Fair values of such instruments are determined by using valuation techniques. Where valuation techniques are used to determine fair values, they are validated and periodically reviewed by experienced personnel at the Investment Manager, independent of the party that created them. Models are calibrated by back-testing to actual transactions to ensure that inputs are reliable.

Models use observable data, to the extent practicable. However, areas such as credit risk (both own and counterparty); volatilities and correlations require management to make estimates. Changes in assumptions about these factors could affect the reported fair value of financial instruments.

All the Fund's financial assets and financial liabilities are held for the purpose of being traded.

Functional currency

The Board of Directors considers the US Dollar the currency that most faithfully represents the economic effect of the underlying transactions, events and conditions. The US Dollar is the currency in which the Fund measures its performance and reports its results, as well as the currency in which it receives subscriptions for its investors.

Performance fees

The Advisor also receives a performance fee equal to 20% of the net profits attributable to each class of redeemable preference share except for Class D. Russian Federation First Mercantile Fund Limited

Notes to the Financial Statements for the period ended 28 March 2014

15 Financial instruments and risk exposure

(a) Russian business environment

The Fund invests in companies which are mainly located in the Russian Federation. The Russian Federation continues to experience significant political and economic change which has affected, and may continue to affect, the activities of enterprises operating in this environment. The prospects for future economic stability in the Russian Federation are largely dependent upon the effectiveness of economic measures undertaken by the applicable governments, together with legal, regulatory and political developments, which are beyond the Fund's control. Consequently, operations in the Russian Federation involve risks, which do not typically exist in other markets. Such risks include, but are not limited to, the Fund's investments in companies in the Russian Federation which may prove difficult to sell in times of forced liquidity, risks involved estimating the valuation of the underlying businesses, potential adverse changes to the legal, regulatory and taxation environments that could adversely affect the underlying businesses, currency fluctuations, change in interest rates, institutional, settlement and custodial risks, and other risks generally associated with investing in emerging markets.

(b) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk arises when a fund invests in interest-bearing financial instruments. The Fund does not hold securities which are sensitive to interest rates and does not hold, in the course of normal business, significant balances of cash and cash equivalents.

(c) Credit risk

Credit risk arises from the potential inability of counterparties to perform under the terms of the contract. The Fund has cash and cash equivalents, derivative transactions and securities held with a major bank with a long term credit rating of A2 issued by Moody's.

Local custody services remain undeveloped and although the Advisor endeavours to put in place controls mechanisms, there is a transaction, settlement and custody risk of dealing in regional securities. The maximum amount of credit exposure is represented by the carrying amounts of the securities listed on the consolidated schedule of investments.

Bankruptcy or insolvency of the bank or custodians may cause the Fund's rights to be delayed with respect to the cash and cash equivalents and securities held in the custodial relationship. The Advisor monitors the credit quality and financial position of the bank and custodians and should it decline significantly, the Advisor will move cash holdings and custodial relationships to another institution.

(d) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the changes in interest rates, foreign exchange rates or securities prices will affect the fair value of the financial instruments held by the Fund. The Fund is exposed to the market risk of the securities and derivative financial instruments held. The Fund's risk is limited to the fair value of the investment in securities.

At March 28, 2014, if the price of the investments increased by 5%, this would have increased the net assets resulting from operations and the net assets attributable to holders of redeemable preference shares by $1,799,840 (2013 - $2,347,706); an equal change in the opposite direction would have decreased the net assets resulting from operations and the net assets attributable to holders of redeemable preference shares by an equal amount. Actual results will differ from this sensitivity analysis and the differences could be material.

(e) Currency risk

The Fund may invest in financial instruments denominated in currencies other than US dollar. Consequently, the Fund is exposed to risks that the exchange rate of the US dollar relative to other foreign currencies may change in a manner that has an adverse effect on the value of that portion of the Fund's assets or liabilities denominated in currencies other than the US dollar. The Fund's investment portfolio is comprised of securities that are American Depository Receipts ("ADRs") and Global Depository Receipts ("GDRs") which trade in United States dollars and British pounds sterling. Furthermore, the value of the rouble may impact the US dollar value of these securities.

The following table sets out the Fund's total exposure to foreign currency risk split between monetary assets and liabilities, net assets attributable to non-USD denominated share classes, forward foreign exchange contracts and the resulting net exposure to foreign currencies.

The amounts in the below table are based on the carrying value of monetary assets and liabilities, net assets attributable to non-USD denominated share classes and the underlying notional amounts of forward foreign exchange contracts.

Forward foreign exchange contracts are entered in to by the Fund to hedge exposure to monetary assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than USD and to hedge the exposure of certain share classes denominated in currencies other than USD.

The gains and losses on forward foreign exchange contracts entered into for the purpose of hedging the exposure to monetary assets and liabilities are recorded in gains and losses on forward foreign exchange contracts in the consolidated statement of comprehensive income. The gains and losses on contracts entered into for the purpose of hedging the exposure of share classes denominated in currencies other than USD are also recorded in gains and losses on forward foreign exchange contracts in the consolidated Statement of comprehensive income, but are allocated specifically to the non-USD denominated share classes to which the hedging activities, and resultant gains and losses, relate.

(f) Capital management

The Fund's objectives in managing the redeemable preference shares are to ensure a stable base to maximize returns to all investors, and to manage liquidity risk arising from redemptions. The Fund's management of the liquidity risk arising from redeemable preference shares is discussed in Note 13.

The Fund is not subject to any externally imposed capital requirements.

(g) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Fund will not be able to meet its financial obligations as they fall due. A portion of the securities owned by the Fund are traded on Russian exchanges and may be subject to reduced secondary market liquidity and market quotations may only be available from a limited number of sources and may not represent firm bids for actual sales. As a result, the Fund may not be able to quickly liquidate its securities at their stated fair value in order to meet its liquidity requirements. The Fund's portfolio consists primarily of ADR's and GDR's which are traded on a primary exchange. The Fund's exposure to liquidity risk is managed by the Advisor.

The liabilities of the Fund are comprised of redemptions payable, management and performance fees payable and accounts payable and accrued expenses and these fall due within 3 months of the balance sheet date.

Balances due within 12 months equal their carrying balances, as the impact of discounting is not significant.

(i) Fair value estimation

The Fund adopted the amendment to IFRS 7, effective 1 January 2009. This requires the Fund to classify fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 - Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 - Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (that is, as prices) or indirectly (that is, derived from prices).
- Level 3 - Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs).

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measurement is a level 3 measurement. Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement, considering factors specific to the asset or liability.

The determination of what constitutes 'observable' requires significant judgement by the Directors. The Directors consider observable data to be that market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable and verifiable, not proprietary, and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market.

The following tables analyse within the fair value hierarchy the Company's financial assets at fair value through profit and loss measured at fair value at 28 March 2014. All assets are classified as Level 1 on the basis that they are traded on highly liquid markets:
